People are bufy throwing out Infinuations of the Decigns against the Liberties of the People, antitut Power of the Crown, and the prevail-forces of Corruption.

I was aware of the People would give a wrong Turn to my theas; and endeavour to represent him who is a strong to Licence, the Rust and Bane of true Freedom, themy to Liberty itself. But notwithstanding this last forbear speaking fairly on so momentous a defectally now, when if cordially united, we say that the true People as well as our own.

to you like that Paper?

The Verily not at all — Freeman, thou'rt as dull at mere Pack-horfe, a Ministerial Drudge composit against thyself as well as the Nation.—

O tare, Mr. F.— Is this the Language of the im — Are these Whis Principles— Are they not as Arbitrary Government, better cook'd up, and greatly season'd?— Ah, Mr. F. Mr. F. we are Source of some Folks new Principles.— Im to be told, that a Tory Creed may be preach'd ar a Whig Administration.— We understand so

So well how to malque your own Sentiments, afuspect every Man you converse with, of Diffi-But let me tell you, Sir, there is a Diftween Whigs and Republicans; those who care a Monarchs make Cyphers of their Great Counwould be as much displeased to see a Cypher their Prince; they are of the old Religion in To the Law and to the Testimony. retoo honest to be Slaves, they are too just to er Princes Tools .-They know our Freeour'd by the Constitution; they are sensible ution must exert itself in the Government; differn Liberty to depend on Government, nes them to support one that they may other. Thus you fee, Sir, it is not Paffive but rational Zeal for Liberty. tre playing with Words, in truth, Squire the playing with Words.

R. F. No, Mr. D. it is you play with Words.—
I endeavour to use them.—You have play'd so long with some Terms of Importance, that whenever the People hear them mentioned they are ready to laugh — We have no longer any serious Maxims of Government, or Rules for the Conduct of Private Life. — All Restrictions (however reasonable or necessary) are thought oppressive, and the Man whose Temper renders him no Savage— is look'd on as a SLAVE.

C. D. But hark you, F. fpeak candidly.— Is there not fomething intended against the Press?— Don't you endeavour, as far as you can, to prepare the World for it?—— Is there not a Rod in ———— for us Scribblers?— Tell Truth, now, old Acquaintance.

R. F. The Usige the late Parliament receiv'd from yourfelf and Friends without Resentment, would certainly incline any except your Party to believe the Administration mild and the Legislature indulgent, to such a degree as to kindle Gratitude. — But, Sir, I will answer you freely; — I think the Press in the utmost Danger. — It what I have heard be true, there are People who are determin'd to push for — I need not explain it. To go such Lengths as are not to be endured, in hopes of compelling the Administration to do — what they hope would not be permitted. — On the same Principle some Folks were for repealing the Riot Act, — that they might make the Government odious by reviving it, to which they intended to have forc'd them by Tumults. — Here lies the Discase of the Press, — past Hopes of Recovery I doubt.

C. S. Then you are of Opinion Profecutions will follow

R. F. Yes, Sir,— in case you write the Mob into a Rebellion.— This is a melancholy Subject, every goodnatur'd Man must be in pain for the Consequences of the many Arts now practis'd to inflame the People.—— You may feed yourseis with what Fancies you will, but in time even the Vulgar will distinguish who are true Friends to Freedom.—— Your Violence will ruin you.— Charges without Proofs recoil on their Authors.

C. D. Ay, ay, fo they will.—— But, good Mr. F. who can prove things against Men in Power.—— There is not a Fellow in Newgate, as a worthy Gentleman said in a certain Place, who would not defy the Justice of his Country, if he had all the Evidence against him in his Pocket.

R. F. That worthy Friend of yours, Sir, had the Miffortune to have a warm Temper, and was so unlucky as to meet with many Disappointments.— His Language on that Occasion was as bad as the Infinuation was base.— Worse neither of 'em could be.— But, Sir, why did you repeat it, since the Reasoning is fallacious.— A Patriot advances nothing but what is true.— If a thing is true, it cannot want Proofs.— Why then should you not produce them?— Either a Man accuses another from Passion or from Conviction.— If from Passion, it ought to go for nothing,— if from Conviction, then what he charges him with is so,— let him therefore shew the Grounds of his Conviction.— You would not turn a Minister out, in order to know why you desir'd to have him turn'd out?— In a Word, either Evidence,— or Silence,— or Tyranny.

Silence,— or Tyranny.

C. S. Or Slavery, Corruption, and Contradictions.

R. F. Your Party, Sir, deal in nothing elfe. When the Tories revolted on Principle, you reviled them.—Did not this flew you expected they should be Slaves to your Dictates?—You have drawn over some covetous Men from the Government by Promises, is not this Corruption?—You write sometimes like a Protestant Whig, don't your Acquaintance own this borders upon Contradiction?—I wonder such crazy Folks like Wrestling.

C.D. Then I find, Mr. F. you are for a Ministry everlasting.

R. F. I am, Sir, for doing Justice to all Men, Ministers as well as Patriots.— I am for Accusations when well grounded,— and for punishing false Accusers.— I had rather swallow Mysteries in Religion, than Paradoxes in Politicks.— And to speak without Reserve, had rather see you write Grasifinen to your last Breath, than to find you Under fecretary to one of your Patrons.— In flor, Sir, I am for punishing bad Ministers, and for keeping such Menout of Power as would punish good ones, to serve their Purposes.— I don't wonder at your talking of an everlasting Ministry, when I know you would be glad to pack a perpetual Parliament.—

be glad to pack a perpetual Parliament.—
C. D. That's a Charge without Proof, Frieman.
R.F. No, Sir, your Lift, and Introduction to it, are Proofs, indisputable Proofs, to such as will read.

C.S. Come, let us go. This Fellow can inform us of nothing I fee.

R. F. I grant that; but possibly I may be able to inform the People,— That the Constitution is the Bulwark of their Liberties.— That you and your Associates are endeavouring to undermine it,— and if it should tumble, whatever becomes of others, it must knock the Common People slat.— You want to run back to our old Gethick Form,— and as some of your Patrons have vast Estates, would sain stock them with Vassals instead of Farmers.

C. D. Ay, 2y, inform them of what you will.
C.S. We shall always have the People.
R. F. Pray God you don't sell them then.— Adieu, Gentlemen, for ever.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Hague, Oct 20.

Here are particular Advices of the 7th Inflant N. S. from Vienna, that on the 7th Inflant N. S. from Vienna, that on the 7th Inflant N. S. from Vienna, that on the 7th Inflant N. S. from Vienna, that on the 7th Inflant ing a Bavarian Trumpeter arriv'd there with Different patches which he faid he was to deliver to the Veit-Marshal de Kevenhuller's own Hand, who being inform'd thereoforser'd him to be brought to him bindfolded. What his Errand was is not certainly known, tho'tis reported it was a Summons to him from the Elector of Bavaria to surrender the City, and that the Elector's Troops were actually on the March to take Possession of it. Be this as it will, the Velt Marshal his held an extraordinary Council of War upon this Occasion, and tho' the Gates are open, and the Posts pass and repass as usual, yet the Regency has thought fit to shut up the Bank.

Letters from Ratisbon of the 12th fay the Circle of Suabia has concluded a Convention of Neutrality with the Elector of Bavaria, who has admitted French Garrifons into the Towns of Doniwert and Ingolitadt.

Those of the 15th from Franctort say, the Preparations for the Marriage of the Prince of Sultzbach and Prince Clement of Bivaria to the two Palatine Princesses are continued, and that the Ecctors of Cologne and Bavaria are expected next Month at Manheim to be present at the Celebration, the former being to give them the Nuptial Benediction; after which they are both to repair to Francfort to assist at the Election of a King of the Romans.

Letters of the 22d from Rutisbon take notice of a Memorial prefented to the Elector of Mentz at Franction to the Ministers of Cologne, Bavaria, the Palatinate and Prussia, whereby they declare. That confidering the present State of Affairs in the Empire, they think it proper for this time to suspend the Electoral Suffrage for Bohemia at the next Dyet of Electoral Suffrage for Bohemia at the next Dyet of Electoral Suffrage for Bohemia at the next Dyet of Electoral Suffrage for Bohemia at the next Dyet of Electoral Suffrage for Bohemia at the next Dyet of Electoral Suffrage of the Members; Nor do they aim in the least to infringe the Golden Bull, but on the contrary to maintain it inviolably as a fundamental Constitution of the Empire. The Saxon Minister excused himself from figuring this Memorial, declaring, "That his Court form'd no Scruple as to the Validity of the Suffrage of Bohemia, but only as to the Manner of exercising it.

Letters of the 4th N.S. from Breslau say, they have Advice that the Prussian Army, after having lett a Garison in Oppelen, continued its March towards the Mountains, where tis so posted, that it may enter into Moravia whenever the King thinks fit: And we are aftured that a Part of the Austrian Army is with a place.

Bohemia.
Those of the 30th ult. N. S from Rome Cr. 18th the Impostor who call'd himself a Prince. The Confine to the Great Mogul, and came thither with a Prince of embracing Christianity, has been carry'd our of the Confines of the Ecclesiastical State, and other a new to set his Foot within it again, on pain of being committed to the Galleys,

Yesferday the States General gave the Government of Breda, vacout by the Death of the Baron de Pallandt to the Prince of Hesse Hombourg, Lieutenant General of Foot, and Governor of Tournay.
They talk at Francfort of a Partition-Treaty on foot;

by which Bohemia, Upper Austria, and Tirol, are to be firyt's to the Elector of Bavana; Upper Silefin and " Moravia, to the Ejector of Saxony; and the King of · Prufficis to keep what he has conquer'd in Lower Silefia, ' together with the City and Principality of Neiss, and the City of Glatz.

Extract of a Letter from Presbourg, of Oct. 6. N.S. The Queen has sent an Order to Baron Wasner, her Minister at the Court of France, to declare, That as as it was always her Majesty's Intention to cultivate the Friendship of the most Christian King, she desir'd his goo l'Offices in the present perplex'd State of her Affairs; and that she was ready to consent to a reasonable Accommodation with the Competitors for the late Emperor's Succession. The French Minister here has receiv'd two Couriers upon this Occasion, and another is arriv'd from Hanover, whose Dispatches have given occasion to a Conference between Count Staremberg and Mr. Robinson. The General Dyet of the States of Hungary is just separated, the Queen having given equal Satisfaction both to the Roman Catholicks and · the Protestants.

Hanover, Oct. 14. N. S. The Lord Crawford, who was fo dangerously wounded at the Battle of Kroska, has been to wait on the King at Hamelen, who complimented him on his Bravery, but express'd his Concern to hear how much he was wounded. The Baron de Haslang, the Elector of Bavaria's Minister, has receiv'd Orders to attend his Majesty to England; and his Electoral Highness has writ a Letter to his Majesty, to affure him of his grateful Sense for the Disposition he thinks his Majesty in to grant him his Suffrage at the ensuing Dyet at Francfort; yet 'tis faid, that if there be fuch a Disposition on the Part of his Majesty, it is only conditional. Mean time, Troops are raifing throughout this Electorate with Success; and 'tis faid our Forces are to be augmented with 6000 Men, in order to cover this Country against the Insults to which it is liable for the Attachment his Majesty has shewn to the Interests of the House of Austria, whose Ruin so many Enemies seem to have conspir'd, and for his having answer'd his Engagements with regard to the Pragmatic Sanction.

ESTERDAY arriv'd a French Mail, with the following Advices from Germany in the Paris Alamain of Friday laft.

From the Camp at Ips in Middle Austria, Oft. 9. N.S. Tho' we are at present but Ten Leagues from Vienna, yet our Generals don't feem fo much inclin'd to attack that City, as mente into the Kingdom of Bohemia; which we will be attended with no great Difficulty, all the in Forces being turn'd towards Vienna. The who continue their March, are to go into Mothe take possession of that Country; during which fictor of Bavaria is to advance to Prague, to be Miking of Bohemia; and at the fame time a Body fruito form the Siege of Egra. On the 2d, when father of Bavaria receiv'd the Oath of Fidelity from oficers of the Magistracy and Militia at Lintz, there afrend Discharges from 60 Great Guns there, and dinary Marks of Joy. The Count de Saxe arria Ambstelen, and finding a Troop of Hussar Draand Austrian Horse there, he sent 50 of his own fin, and as many Dragoons, with Orders to attack athorthey were much superior in Number; when Hif in Hour's Engagement, during which 25 of fremy were raken Prisoners, they fled, and abandon'd their Horses. had of a private Letter from the Hague, Oct. 21. from Vienna of the 7th Instant inform us, Elector of Bayaria refided in the Beginning of Month at the Abbey of Molek, where two Years ago he had a Conference with his late Imperial Majesty. It was hop'd that his Electoral Highness would have made no Attempts upon this City till the next Campaign, but we begin now to alter our Opinions, a Bavarian Trumpeter having arriv'd here, who on his being carried blindfold to the Veldt Marshal Kevenhuller our Governor, fummon'd him to furrender this City on the first Appearance of the Bayarian Troops. In the mean time our Garrison receives almost daily Supplies of Men and Ammunition, and confiderable Bodies frequently pass by to join the Queen our Sovereign's Army. We are affur'd, that in a Week's time the Ban and arrier Ban of Hungary will be rais'd, when we hope it will appear, that we are not altogether fo void of Force as some People imagine. It must be a great Comfort to the Queen in the Midst of her Misfortunes, to see with what Chearfulness and Loyalty the People venture their Lives and Fortunes in her Service. When some of the Hungarian Nobility took their Leaves of her M jefty on the Rifing of the Dyet, one of them made her this Compliment in the Name of the rest: Madam, we hope to have the Happiness of living, bus if Providence should deny us that, we are determined to have the Honour of dying your good Subjects. Count Coloredo, Vice Chancellor, remov'd all the Archives from this City, and carried them safely to Presbourg, Couriers pass daily between this Place and Paris, whence some People conclude that a Negociation is on foot for fettling the Tranquility of Germany.

By Letters from Silefia of the 3d of October we are told, that on the 28th past the King of Prussia sign'd a Treaty of Alliance offensive and defensive with France, Spain and Bavaria, but as we have this from the Austrian Camp, it may perhaps stand in need of Confirmation. The Armies in that Country now act again vigoroully, and many People think there will be an Action before they go into Winter Quarters. The Pruffians took possession of the Town of Oppelen with ten thousand Men, but were so harrass'd by the Austrian Hussars, Croats, &c. that they were oblig'd to quit it and rejoin the Army. Soon after however they return'd with a greater Force, with fuch Silence and Expedition, that they surprized a hundred Hussiars in the Place. It is fince rumour'd, that his Prussian Majesty intends to enter Moravia with his Forces, but this meet: with no Credit, it being the general Opinion that he will find it necessary to winter in Upper Silesia, for the Security of his new Conquests, and perhaps by that time the Spring comes, things may change their Situation, and his Majesty his Sentiments.

Letters from Ratisbon of the 12th Oct. acquaints us, that the Elector of Bavaria has concluded a Treaty of Neutrality with the Circle of Suabia, a Piece of Intelligence not easily understood, fince in that Circle there are a great many Territories belonging to the House of Austria, which we can scarce imagine will be included in this Neutrality. The French Troops under the Command of the Marshal de Maillebois must take up their Winter Quarters in the Palatinate, the Court of Hanover refuling on any Terms to fuffer their entering West-

Paris, Oct. 16. We talk here of the Siege of Vienna in very politive Terms, and as if there was no Doubt to be made of its being immediately undertaken. The Count de Loos, Envoy from the King of Poland as Elector of Saxony, had an Audience of the King lately, in which it is faid he acquainted his Majesty with the Motives which had induced his Master to send 10,000 Men into Bohemia. This had been talk'd of before, but it was generally believ'd to be a false Report, whereas now we are affur'd that these Saxon Troops have actually entered Bohemia, but for what Purpose is not very certain. We are still flatter'd with great Hopes from . M. Buily's Negociations. It is faid, that the Propofals he is charg'd with are of fuch a Nature as can scarce fail of giving Satisfaction, and yet there are some People here who fay that these are only Pretences to keep up the Spirits of the People, under the heavy Load of their Taxes and the difagreeable Sight of immenfe Sums passing daily out of the Kingdom. Actions 2005.

1 believe I shall shortly write you some extraordinary

News from this Place, the Government feems determin'd to be in a Condition of defending itself, and of taking fuch a Share in the Transictions of Europe as may fuit with the Interest of this State. A very solid Answer has been return'd to a Memorial presented by his Prussian Majesty's Minister in relation to the new Sluice. importing, that fince in this Memorial it is own'd that the Works which are carrying on are in the Territories of the States, they can fee no Resson for discontinuing it; that as to any Prejudice his Pruffian Majesty's Su!.

jects may receive thereby, it does not appear either from Reason or from Facts so much as probable; that as the stopping these Works would be prejudicial to the Property of private Persons who have contracted for the Performance of them, their High Mightinesses cannot conceive that it would be just to put a Stop to it, but that if, contrary to their present Apprehensions, it should be clearly made out that his Prussian Majesty's Subjects are really detrimented by these Works, Compenfation shall be made them.

Mr. Trevor, Envoy Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary from his Britannick Majesty, has presented a Memorial demanding an Escort for the King his Master thro' the Dominions of the States, to which was annex'd the following Rout, from Bentheim to Courante-Paal, Duden, Holten, Deventer, Appledoorn, Milligen, Voorthuyzen, Amersfoort 't Huyster Heyden, Utrecht, Hermelen, Bodegrave, Gouda, de Scheui, Rotterdam, Schiedam, Maaslandsluys, Rosenburgh, Briel, Helvoct-sluys; and accordingly Orders were immediately issued for the March of proper Detachments to their respect-

Mr. Wilson, of the oldest Lottery-office, Charing-cross, having secur'd by his Subscription a large Quantity of Tickets in the present Lottery, is thereby enabled to supply the Town with them on the most reasonable Terms, either in Parcels or fingle ones. His Method of dividing Tickets into Shares, fo advantageous to small Adventurers, having been attended in all Lotteries past with surprising Success to the Purchasers, occasions every Day more than other a universal Demand for them. As this Lottery consists of 10000 Tickets less than any former one fince the Year 1713, besides seventeen capital Prizes more than were in the last, all of them from 5000 l. to 500 l. each, it is more than probable Tickets will be much dearer before the Drawing, which the Act of Parliament directs shall begin fooner this Year than the last.

The extraordinary Success which Tickets, and Shores of Tickets, fold at Hazard's Lottery-Office fronting Stationers-Hall, have met with in former Lotteries, occasions every Day a very large Demand for them in the present; where Tickets and Shares are fold at the lowest Prices. Authentick Numerical and Register Books are kept open at the faid Office; and Gentlemen, Scc. who register their Tickets at this Office, may be certain of having the earliest Notice sent them of their Success (expressing the Hour when each Number was drawn) if in or nigh Town, and by the first Post to any Part of

To my Worthy Countrymen and Brother Freeholders.

Being inform'd, That several Persons are very indu-strious, by false and deceivful Insumations, to lessen the Regard that you are pleas'd to have for my Conduct in Farliament, I think myself oblig'd in Vindication of my Charafter to affert, that in every Publick Emergency I have constantly acted from a difinterested and unbyas'd Principle, and steadily adher'd to that Side of the Question, which, upon a View of all Circumstances, appear'd to me the most conducive to the general Welfare of the Nation.

And as it has likewise been artfully suggested to my Prejudice, that I do not intend Myfelf to represent you in Parlia-ment, but design underhand and treacherously to transfer my Interest at the Time of the Election to some other Gentleman, I do hereby solemnly declare, that this Report is false and groundless, and that such a mean, ungenerous Project never once entered my Thoughts, nor was ever proposed or binted to me by any Person whatever. And sherefore I hope you will not suffer yourselves to be impos'd upon and inveigled by such fallacious and disingenuous Artifices, but will favour me with your Votes and Interest at the ensuing Election, which I shall ever account the truest and greatest tionour, that can be conferr'd upon,
